

Friday 21st March 2025

This week has been full of colourful fun with activities such as paint mixing, painting ice blocks, creating collages and taking part in colour hunts.

On Wednesday the children had a go at creating their own Kandinsky inspired artwork. This type of art is well suited to young children as they are naturally drawn to the bright, bold colours. His artwork often features basic geometric shapes which are familiar to the children and were recognised when looking at the paintings. We were so impressed by the pictures created by the children...we have some future artists amongst us!

On Friday our activities were focused on Elmer The Elephant, a wonderful colourful character who helps children celebrate individuality and diversity.
